LAUREN R. LYDE: THE COLLECTIVE WONDER OF BEING THERE
HARMONY HALL ARTS CENTER

Dates: APRIL 24 - JUNE 5 2021

Fort Washington, MD — Lauren R. Lyde: The Collective Wonder of Being There, a solo exhibition will be presented in the Main Gallery, Harmony Hall Arts Center from April 24 through June 5, 2021.

The Collective Wonder of Being There features selections from Dream Chasers, an ongoing series of oil paintings and drawings by Lauren R. Lyde, Baltimore native, painter, educator and humanist.

Inspiration for the series is derived from Lyde's wistful look back at her childhood. Her youthful reminiscences are not merely an escape into nostalgia, they are intended to provoke and awaken in us a curiosity about the legacies we leave for our children and future generations.

The series takes as its point of departure one of the perennial questions guiding her artistic practice. Am I a good steward?

The gallery is closed in observance of public health and safety precautions. Plans to reopen and welcome the public are forthcoming. Please stay tuned for information about a virtual experience.
